

Lenore Edward's real life was a romance novel set in exotic locales! She traveled the world as an actress and singer for over half her life and is now a life coach, writer and speaker. Her heroines are drawn from her own life experience.

After so many years of travel, Lenore needed a change. Now she teaches theater & music at a University and passes on her knowledge to students. She also writes non-fiction books and articles. Lenore Edwards is a pseudonym, and a fun alter ego.

Lenore is passionate about extreme self-care for women, quality of life and the incredible power of choice we possess.
